PUBLIC WELFARE WORK

Under this heading the Times-Gazette will publish weekly articles furnished by the San Mateo Conference of Social Agencies dealing with Public Welfare work:

The New Era.

Men have been fighting to make the world a better place to live in. Now people are asking "When does the New Era begin?" They do not know what that it has begun; that it began the moment war began.

Public Welfare Workers before the war had adopted the social definition of Sin and Righteousness. "Sin is a preventable evil cheerfully accepted. Righteousness, the courageous and skillful co-operation with others to discover and abolish unnecessary evil." When this country entered the war, the conditions under which all men should go to war were judged in the light of this definition. Disease, immorality, should in a large measure be prevented; and the silent misery of those left at home by their bread-earners should be lightened.

National organization made it possible for all to do their bit in this work of prevention, for the duration of the emergency. It has now become obvious that the emergency does not end with the war. The Communities to which our soldiers return must be fit places for them to live in. Thus have war aims been broadened until they become plans for society.

The people who are doing the constructive thinking are not waiting to see the future come. They are too busy. The New Era has already begun, and they know it.

A definite intelligence and sentiment has been created concerning our responsibility to childhood. No longer can we sit back, content that our children have nourishing food, education and wholesome recreation. It is your business and mine to point out to the children in our community, our county, who, because of ignorant, vicious, or unfortunate parents, are suffering, with stunted bodies and minds, handicapped for life, to grow to adult life, only to become a burden and menace to society. To find these unfortunate children, and so change their condition ,that they also will have a chance to grow to self sufficient manhood and womanhood, is our immediate duty.

A Treat in Store for San Mateans.

Perhaps few residents of San Mateo county have heard of the State Conference of Social Agencies. It was started several years ago by groups of social workers getting together to discuss their various activities and to get mutual help and inspiration. In those days they needed this encouragement, for few, if any, of the laity knew much about the problems confronting these workers. Times have changed however, and we are all becoming conscious of the great social revolution of which we are a part. The war has crystalized this interest and we now look with pity upon the human drones who take no part in the services to be rendered to humanity.

Because of the awakening of this new spirit the State Conference of Social Agencies has, within the last few years, become a most vital influence. Last April, at the meeting in Santa Barbara, when Miss Pearl Chase was responsible for its organization, there were a thousand or more attending the conference and all felt alike that it was the most enlightening and inspiring experience that had been their privilege to witness. Next April the annual meeting is to be held in San Jose, with Judge Beasley as president. It is earnestly hoped, with this opportunity at is doors Santa Clara county will take advantage of it. We will print more concerning this conference from time to time, so that our readers may become familiar with its aims and development.

The report of County Recorder W. H. Barg ,showing fees in the sum of $126.28 collected in his office from January 1, 1919, to January 6, 1919, when his term expired, was received and ordered filed.

A communication addressed to Chairman MacBain from State Senator M. B. Johnson at Sacramento was read requesting that if the board had any special legislation on roads, or otherwise in which it is interested, for the general good, that it notify him as early as possible.

On motion of Hickey, seconded by Thompson, the clerk of the board was directed to answer the communication and thank Senator Johnson for his offer, and inform him that at the present time, as far as is known there is nothing coming up in the way of road work that would require attention at the State Capitol.

The Social Service Commission addressed a communication to the supervisors informing them that the terms of Miss Mary Lansdale and Mrs. W. A. Brooke, representatives on the commission from the Second and Fourth townships respectively, had expired, and recommending that both these ladies be reappointed.

Mrs. Brooke was reappointed a member of the commission, on motion of Francis, seconded by Thompson. In the matter of the re-appointment of the other representative, Supervisor Brown addressed the board and stated that inasmuch as Miss Lansdale was from San Mateo and there was already another representative on the commission from that city, it would be well to consider the appointment of some person from Burlingame, so as to give that city representation on the board. It was therefore ordered, on motion of Brown, seconded by Hickey, that the selection of the commissioner to fili the vacancy be laid over for the present.

Miss Anne Belle Bailey, county librarian, submitted her report for the month of December, 1918, showing expenses of $455.35, and notifying the board at the same time of the resignation of Miss Carmelita Duff as part time assistant in the library office and the appointment of Miss Mae Baccus of Redwood City as the latter's temporary successor. Miss Bailey also stated in her report that she is now working in conjunction with the following schools of the county, they having complied with the provisions of Section 1715 and 1716 of the Political Code: Burlingame grammar school district, Miramar, Pigeon Point, Prussima, Sunny side and Wurr.

Charles Jacobus of Redwood City tendered his resignation as janitor of the court house and the same was accepted, on motion of Thompson, seconded by Francis.

The resignation of Laurence Steele as poundmaster of the Fifth township was also received and the same was accepted on motion of Thompson seconded by Hickey.

Eli D. Moore of Pescadero was nominated as successor to Steele, on motion of Thompson, seconded by Hickey, and also on motion of Thompson, seconded by Hickey, David E. Moore of Redwood City was appointed janitor of the court house, to take Jacobus' place.

Attorney Lee T. Ross of Redwood City addressed the board relative to securing the abandonment of a road on the old Quentin ranch at San Gregorio, now owned by his father, Attorney George C. Ross. Attorney Ross explained that some years ago the county surveyor had secured a right-of-way for a new road through the ranch which had been constructed to parallel the old road. Both roads were not needed, the attorney stated, and he asked that the board look into the situation and ascertain which was the better to retain. The old road was used mostly, he said, and his father preferred the abandonment of the new one and would be willing to donate any necessary land for the improvement of the latter.

Supervisor Thompson, in whose district the ranch is located, stated that ninety per cent of the people are now using the old road, which is about two miles shorter than the new one. On his motion, seconded by Hickey, the board decided to visit the ranch on the following Wednesday morning, with County Surveyor Kneese and make an inspection of the two roads.

A petition was signed by Danye Dianda and others, was received, asking for the installation of seven street lights on the Sunshine Valley road in Montara and another petition signed by Ella L. T. La Crosse and others was received, asking for an additional light at the corner of Correas and Alsace Lorraine avenues in the town of Halfmoon Bay. Both petitions were granted, on motion of Francis, seconded by Brown.

A resolution making the Redwood City Democrat the official paper of the board of supervisors for the next two years was adopted, on motion of Thompson, seconded by Francis.

In compliance with a request of Supervisor Hickey of the First Township, and on motion of Francis, seconded by Thompson, County Surveyor Kneese was directed to make a survey of a certain street in the White Tract at Colma in order to arrange for the opening of a thoroughfare for a property owner who is now shut off from the highway.

The board took up at this time the question of continuing the work of further sinking the well at the county farm and hospital. H. H. Archer, who has the contract for sinking, was present at the meeting and he stated that he had reached a depth of 335 fee, wih no indications of securing water. In view of this fact, the board felt that there was no use of sinking any further and instructed Archer to present his claims at the next meeting for all the work he had done and at the same time to submit to the board an estimate of the cost of removing the pipe used in the well and also to make an offer for the purchase of the pipe.

On motion of Brown, seconded by Francis, Chairman MacBain was given permission to purchase some culvert pipe for use in his district.

The board, on motion of Brown, seconded by Hickey, instructed County Engineer Kneese to prepare plans and specifications for installing a pipe line and pumping plant for conveying water from the Spring Valley pipe main to the county farm and hospital along the San Mateo road, the plans to include a reservoir to receive the water at the hospital property.

The regular monthly claims passed by the finance committee, were ordered paid, on motion of Hickey seconded by Thompson.

The board adjourned at 1:10 to Monday, January 20, at 10 a. m.

MAKE USE OF YOUR ELECTRICAL CHRISTMAS PRESENTS EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR

Those who received electrical appliances for Christmas, and those who already have been using them, can do no better to help along the work of readjustment than to continue to make use of these appliances.

They afford a saving in time, labor, expense and materials that will be tremendous when considered along with the activities of the busy times ahead. Every appliance can be used for several different purposes.

The coffee percolator will heat water for shaving in the morning before doing its duty on the breakfast table.

The toaster will also heat the pan for frying bacon and eggs.

The sewing machine motor will also polish the silverware.

These are only a few suggestions—your electrical dealer will give you more, and the habit of using your electrical appliances will grow.

CALIFORNIA AND CALIFORNIANS

BY GENERAL JOHN F. SHEEHAN

Jose Joaquin de Arrillga—1800-14—This Governor served longer than any other who came before or after him. Having served from 1792 to 1794 as ad intermin, he now appeared duly commissioned, coming from Loreto, where he was commandant. Governor Borica had left a military force of four hundred men, whose cost to the central government was $88,000 a year. There were thirty-eight at San Francisco, sixty-five at Monterey, sixty-one at Santa Barbara sixty-one at San Diego, seventy-one at Loreto, the remaining being scattered. The salary of the Governor was fixed at $4,000 a year. In 1804 orders were issued to separate Baja from Alta, California, and in 1805 Felipe de Goycoechea ,the commandant at Santa Barbara, was appointed Governor of the lower province. At this period Lieutenant Hermenegeldo Sal and Captain Pedro de Alberni, both prominent in the official life of California, died and were buried at San Carlos Mission. Captain Dario Arguello was military commandante at San Francisco. Although appointed Governor in 1800, Arrillaga did not arrive from Loreto until 1806, when he assumed the reins of government of the upper provinces. At this time the people under his jurisdiction numbered 2,000 whites and 20,000 converted Indians. There were many outbreaks among neophytes as well as gentile Indians. In 1812 Padre Andreas Quintara was murdered by neophytes at Santa Cruz. Branciforte had disappeared as a villa or pueblo, and the entire country was neglected; San Jose was a wicked place, but Los Angeles, having a better class of pobladores, continued to prosper. In 1805 the Alameda, connecting the pueblo of San Jose and the Mission of Santa Clara, was laid out by Padres Catala and Viadar. Governor Arrillaga looked with jealous eyes upon the advent of foreigners, especially upon Americans, or "Boston men;" but ships and Yankees continued to come, and the Russians had settled at Bodega and Fort Ross. Arrillaga died a bachelor, July 25, 1814 ,at the age of sixty-four. He had served as Governor sixteen years including the two year term from 1792 to 1794.

Jose Dario Arguello—1814-15—This appointment was but temporary, and Arguello took office as Governor by reason of having been commandante at San Francisco. He came with Anza and although born in Mexico was of pure Spanish blood. He became an ensign in 1781, and married Ignacio Moraga, daughter of Lieutenant Moraga. He served but a short period, resigned, and went to Loreto, leaving his son, Luis Arguello, in charge at San Francisco.

Pablo Vincente de Sola—1815-22—The administration of Governor Sola was of decided interest. The beginning of the Nineteenth Century found Spain almost constantly at war. Daring the height of the Napoleonic period the unhappy country had been invaded by French armies; the rightful King of Spain had been supplemented by Joseph, the brother of Bonaparte, and there was chaos in the home country as well as in her possessions. Spain had practically forgotten her children in the far west and there were symptoms of revolt in nearly every one of the Spanish American countries. The Spaniards in America began to take notes from the Republic of the United States. An active revolt from the home government was on in Mexico in 1810. A patriot priest raised the standard of freedom, but being of a fanatical nature the fellow countrymen of Hidalgo Costilla did not sustain him and he was captured and shot at Chihuahua on July 30, 1811.

But with the death of Hidalgo the agitation did not cease. There remained the lesson of the "blood of the Martyrs." Governor Sola was a Spaniard by birth and found all the Californians loyal to the mother country. In 1816 Jose Maria Estudillo was commandante at Monterey, and Ignacio Vallejo was sergeant there. Both of these officers had decendants who distinguished themselves. An Estudillo was treasurer of the State of California 1876-80, and General Vallejo's name is familiar to all.

In 1818 two privateer (or buccaneer) vessels from Buenos Ayres put in at Monterey Bay. They were under command of General Hypolite Bouchard, a Frenchman ,who solicited the Californians to join in a revolt against the King of Spain. But Sola was loyal, and determined to fight. The vessels opened fire; and the battery on shore responded, and 400 men were landed from the vessels. The population of Monterey sought refuge 20 miles away to the Salinas, but within five days Bouchard sailed away after destroying Monterey. The Californians suffered no casualties, but five of the privateers were killed by shots from Vallejo's battery. Next year Viceroy Venadito sent 200 so-called soldiers to the relief of California, but generally speaking the "reinforcements" were composed of ex-convicts and all around vagabonds who nearly despoiled San Diego and Monterey. All this time the Missions furnished supplies to the garrisons, for which they were never repaid, for the Spanish Government in Mexico was engaged in a death struggle which ended in the successful revolution of 1821, with Colonel Augustin Iturbide at the head. Iturbide held high post in the army of Mexico, and in 1820 intrigued with the revolutionary leaders with the result that the Viceroy gave away, and Iturbide finally in May 1832 proclaimed himself and was crowned Emperor Augustin I. But soon Santa Ana declared for a Republic, and in 1823 the Emperor abdicated and was ordered to Italy. In 1824 he sailed from London to Mexico, and on landing there was arrested, condemned as a traitor, and shot at Padilla July 19, 1824.

In the meantime Sola received dispatches from Mexico and ordered the flag of Spain to be hauled down. Captain Estudillo, himself a native of Spain, lothfully acquiesced, and California was thereafter a Mexican province until 1846 when the Stars and Stripes floated over the custom house at Monterey.

SAN CARLOS ITEMS

John E. Cowgill, representing both the Order of Railroad Telegraphers and the National League of Postmasters, went to Aromas last Sunday looking after the interests of both of these organizations, calling upon the members en route in so far as it was possible by train. But the particular object of this visit was to assist former Secretary W. A. Canse, postmaster at Aromas, in checking and auditing the accounts preparatory to their transfer to the incoming secretary at San Carlos. Owing to illness, Mr. Canse was not in position to turn over the records, funds and supplies at this time but will bring them to Mr. Cowgill at San Carlos, Saturday the 18th. Just as soon as the machinery of the office is in his hands, so that he is in a position to know who's who, Mr. Cowgill hopes to get in touch with every third and fourth class postmaster of the 1524 in the state of California to see if everyone of them cannot be brought to see the great importance of organization, co-operation and collective action, until we will have a 100 per cent numerically, morally and financially, thus placing the postmasters of the third and fourth class at the head of the class all over this nation, and it won't be third and fourth in that respect, for California is the most progressive in all other matters and we want no laggards among our postmasters. San Carlos is a convenient and an ideal location for our state secretary, being so closely adjacent to the metropolis, that when any of the postmasters are visiting San Francisco, either from the north, south, east or west they should find it very easy to drop in on their 140 pound secretary, pay their dues, land their kicks at or on him and go on their way with the satisfaction that they have had their say and with the dream that they will fix him at the next convention ,either by piling more work on him, which he eats up by the bushel, or run him off the job because they think some man in the north end or south end should have the job. In other words, San Carlos, the second Garden of Eden, should become the mecca for all the third and fourth class postmasters in the state, and if they are wise the will not slip in on the secretary unawares but should give him a little timely notice and if Mrs. Cowgill has any old hens on hand which have gone on strike she might accommodate a poor down-trodden postmaster, or share the old hen with her and a telegraph (operator) station agent, if any happen to be hanging around. For there are many railroad agent-postmasters throughout the state, and those who are not, tote the mail to the man who is, and are thus in full sympathy with those without a grouch, and if it were not for this pleasing situation and Mr. Cowgill's wide acquaintance among these lightning slingers throughout California and beyond its borders, he would not only have thrice refused the job, when tendered him by the National and State President and National Secretary, but his refusal would have been final, owing to his heavy work in connection with the Order of Railroad Telegraphers whose clientele he has worked with and served these many years. Now Brother postmasters, whose eyes may catch this protracted scrawl, we must wake up to the fact that our triennial national convention convenes at Detroit, Michigan, next September and I am sure none of you want to see California without a delegate, and hence it is about time we were considering a state convention to be held either in Sacramento or San Francisco for the purpose of reorganizing our straging forces, going into matters of mutual interest and electing our representative or representatives if we find we are entitled to more than one. But the most important thing just at this time is for each one of you to write your congressman and senators at Washington; also the members of Committee on postoffices and post roads requesting them to support Bill S. 5286 which seeks to increase the pay of fourth class postmasters, and also provides for a reasonable allowance for rent, light and fuel; and it matters not whether you are occupying your own or a rented building. Also request them to support the measure which asks for a 50 per cent increase in clerk hire allowance for the third class postmasters. Each of you should also write Senator Calder of New York thanking him for introducing this bill and for his hard work in our behalf; above all things let us not be ungrateful, either toward our National representatives in congress or our representatives of the Postmaster's League who have served us so efficiently and well in presenting our claims to the Committee on postoffices and post roads. And the one way to show your appreciation is to remit your dues, which are so infinitesmal in camparison to the great benefits we have already received through its good agency, as well the further benefits which are bound to come if you stay with the ship and endeavor to get your next door neighbor to come aboard and help to man it, for without an army of determined men back of them our leaders at Washington should not me expected to accomplish very much. Don't forget to ask every local paper within your reach to lend their support in this matter and then secure a few more subscribers to show that you are their friends also. It is very kind of the editors of the Redwood City Times-Gazette and the Mayfield News to give this space in the interests of the postmasters of San Mateo and Santa Clara counties and it is to be hoped that you will not allow them to go unrewarded.

Mr. George W. Phelps who recently took service as stationery engineer with the Spring Valley Water company at their pumping plant here has moved his family from Santa Barbara, their former residence, and they are occupying apartments in the Powers' bungalow. Mr. Phelps' father the late Geo. W. Phelps Sr., built the home which was later bought by the late county assessor, C. D. Hayward, but which is now owned by Contractor R. P. Huribut, and lived here for many years while he was in the employ of the S. P. company in an official capacity. We are extremely pleased to welcome Mr. Phelps and his interesting little family to San Carlos and are glad to know that they have two little tots of school age.

Mrs. Louise Benedict has returned from a visit of several days with relatives and friends at Woodside.

Mrs. G. Eldridge of Alameda and her sister, Mrs. E. A. Eaton of San Francisco are here as guests of their old and intimate friend, Mrs. Virginia A. Lord with whom they have swapped visits ever since the old stage coach days. But this has nothing to do with their present youthful appearance.

Fred H. Drake, one of San Carlos' livest wires ,and whom we are going to make mayor just as soon as he shakes the dust off Redwood from his heels and becomes a bonafied citizen, has just disposed of another beautiful residence property to a Mr. H. Vanderloan who is connected with the Civil Service department, in the city hall, San Francisco.

Mrs. J. M. Powers who has taken apartments in the metropolis for the winter months was down to San Carlos to prepare her apartments here for the Phelps family who have just moved in.

Mr. Louis H. Hurlbut from Chowchilla, California, is here for a few weeks' stay with his parents.

The Quinn family, four of whom have been tied to their beds by the "flu" for several days are reported as on the mend; the Misses May, Eileen and Edith being able to sit up while their mother is still confined to her bed.

MENLO PARK NEWS OF ALL SORTS

Doings at Peninsula Garden Spot As Told in Breezy Style By Our Reporters

James Bogie, gardener for Mrs. Winchester, has bought the lot adjoining Trinity Episcopal church and between his own property ,formerly the Ward home, from the Livingston Jinks estate.

The government has been selling horses at the remount station all week. Buyers have come from all parts of the west and the east to bid on the animals offered for sale at auction. During the week E. L. Eyre purchased a herd of 250 which he will ship to his big ranch at King City. Animals that the government paid $140 for were sold for $22. The larger horses brought a good price. The government received almost what they paid for the mules that were disposed of. There is a big demand for mules all over the country. Several spans brought over $400.

Owing to the rapidly increasing business of the Menlo Heights Dairy, larger quarters became necessary. The proprietor of the concern has leased the new Merrill building on the extension of Santa Cruz avenue formerly occupied as a candy store opposite the U. S. postoffice and near the Southern Pacific station. Every effort will be made by the proprietor to please his customers and give the best possible service. Guaranteed milk, fresh eggs, butter, butter milk daily and hand made cheese. A new and complete ice plant is to be installed for the care of dairy products as they arrive from the ranch located at Mayfield, where all the cows are of inspected stock and the sanitary conditions are perfect.

Mr. Smith, proprietor of the Smith Shootling Gallery, has moved to San Francisco where he has opened a gallery at 1026 Market street where he will be pleased to meet his former Menlo Park friends. He has spent the sum of $20,000 in preparing the new gallery. Mr. Smith is an enterprising citizen who made many friends while here by his fair business dealings and genial manner.

Leslie Murray of Camp Fremont has been promoted to a sergeant. He has been in the service for considerably over two years.

The many friends of Miss Marian Macondray were shocked Sunday on learning of her death that morning in a hospital at Palo Alto. She was the only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Macondray and was born in Manila seventeen years ago. She belonged to one of the old California families being a niece of Mrs. E. L. Eyre and a cousin of Mrs. P. P. Eyre and Mrs. Macondray Moore. The young lady was highly accomplished being a linguist of rare talent. She could speak Chinese, Portuguese, Italian and French fluently. The young lady spent her vacations with her relatives at Atherton and was quite popular with the smart society set of the peninsula. Her father, Frederick Macondray, went to Manila shortly after the occupation of that city by the Americans and was practically the first American to begin business there. Owing to his knowledge of the Spanish language he soon built up a thriving drayage and warehouse business. There he married an American lady and there the girl was born. Mr. Macondray died on the islands and the body was brought here for burial in the Macondray plot in Holy Cross cemetery. Mrs. Macondray died in California some years later while visiting this coast. The remains of the talented young woman were laid aside those of her father on Monday last.

Miss Meta Kugler is recovering from an attack of influenza. This will be glad news to her many friends on the peninsula.

On Tuesday a herd of 150 horses broke away from the remount station and started on the coast going down the road from Pescadero to Santa Cruz. They went at full speed out distancing their pursuers. The instinct of the animals lead them to figure that they should be demobolized as well as the army now that the war is over and they having done their bit. They want their freedom. They contend that the animal army at the front did its full share in winning the war as nearly 300,000 horses went over seas and the casualty list was over 50,000. Thus far only a few of the animals that broke for freedom were recovered.

All week crippled soldiers are arriving daily from the front en route for the base hospital. Many have to be taken from the cars in stretchers. They all seem hopeful and glad that they contributed their services to their country. For many the future does not seem roseate. However a grateful country will take care of them and provide for their wants, at least this is what it should do for the men that gave up all that freedom should exist and that the world would be safe for democracy.

Francis W. Ahlert, a well-known young man of San Mateo and brother of Joseph Ahlert, the local plumber, passed away at San Mateo early last Thursday morning. He was engaged in the grocery business at Burlingame. He is survived by his widow and two young children. He was aged 30 years. The funeral will take place this morning from his late residence at 9:30 o'clock.

Manager Fitzpatrick has arranged a splendid program for theatre goers at Fremont Theatre this evening. The bill will consist of Douglass Fairbanks in "Kitchen Lady." The comedy will be "Teaching an old dog new Tricks," by a well-known screen artist. A good program has been also arranged for tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Demobolizing is going on at the rate of 250 soldiers a day at Camp Fremont. At this rate the camp will be soon empty. There was a rumor yesterday around the cantonment that three companies from the Presidio would arrive at the camp early next week.

From the city comes the rumor that Ringling Brothers' circus will winter here at Camp Fremont next October staying until next March. bringing 800 people with it. It was also on the tap's that a cannery was to come here when the camp was abandoned to occupy the old buildings. There are numerous rumors afloat concerning the camp, but what will be the outcome is a matter of speculation.

THIRD DIVORCE ACTION OF MRS. VERA SHINE

The third divorce suit of Mrs. Vera Shine against Edward Shine was held before Judge Knight of Santa Cruz, in the superior court on Wednesday. After all the evidence was submitted the court took the case under consideration and will shortly render a decision. Judge Buck has previously denied the plaintiff a divorce and for that reason had called in Judge Knight to sit in the case.
